

THE TORONTO STAR

80 KING STREET WEST

TORONTO, 2

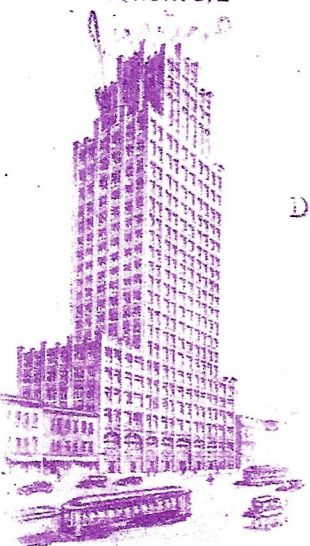

Darlene Dorgan and Regina Fennell,

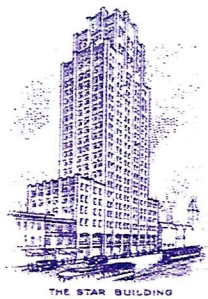

c/o Captain James E. Gill,

Army and Navy Club,

Washington, D. C.

U.S.A.

Thursday, July 10th/39.

THE TORONTO STAR

EDITORIAL DEPARTMENT

Hello Darlene:-

Thanks a lot for that swell pic of you and the Oliver kids, it turned out swell --as you can see by the enclosed clippings from the "Star". A rather odd thing, but do you remember the first "shot" taken without a "flash"? Well that one ought a much better pic than the one which we used a bulb. By the by have you ~~still~~ used bulbs yet? Or are they, as you feared, smashed to h---.?

Your story made quite a neat little feature and my only kick is that I did not write the story myself. I would have done so had I not at first thought that the gals were sightseeing the building---and we were so pestered with that sort of thing here-- and then rather snugly thinking that Baron Speaks (the chap with the glasses) should be the sucker I let him take it. And believe me I was sorry that I did so.

As compliments should be on the agenda could I pass some ~~word~~ on to you and the gang?----It is decidedly a novelty in this rather odd occupation and still odder p 2.

THE TORONTO STAR

EDITORIAL DEPARTMENT

times and place to meet with such a newness and freshness as yours. Does that sound like goof? Well after all reporters are infamous for their so-called sentimentality or what ever one calls it. But s'truth, You know some three years ago + went on a similar jaunt as yours which carried me to Vancouver, California and thence around the world, 35,000 miles in all, but believe me the River gang certainly seemed to enjoy theirs a damn sight more.

I'm hoping that the receipt receiving of this note will not put an end to chats with you and the gang. When you get this be sure and write a note telling us how things are going on the rampage back home. And if at any time you need a little wire or take tacks for the silver jalopy let me know. Best of luck, and I hope the skies and the Ford^S innards treat you well.

Eddie Chentler,

Editorial department,

P. S.

The Toronto Star.

A glossy pix should be waiting you in Washington.